

Qnami was created in 2017 with the ambition to leverage quantum technologies to create a new standard for high precision sensors and develop markets across different applications from semiconductors, to medical diagnostic, to automotive. The unique expertise of Qnami's team is key to our customers, who seek to lead by innovation.

We are currently looking for a

Director of operations to structure and oversee operations within the company and help us grow the business. In this position, your responsibilities will include

- Understanding and disseminating the company's vision and its culture
- Contributing to the strategic planning with the management team
- Planning, organizing and managing resources (divers teams & multiple business line finances) to achieve defined milestones.
- Ensuring day-to-day operation and administration
- Communicating with each team to manage expectations, streamline operations and ensure consistency with the general roadmap
- Defining key performance indicators for the companies
- Structuring and overseeing supply chain and logistics
- Ensuring compliance (tax, ethics, local and national authorities) and safety (insurance, training protocols).

You are a team player and result-driven person. You have superior communication skills, an ability to understand complex problems and drive your teams to a decision. You value work in a multi-disciplinary environment and you inspire others. You have:

- an MBA or equivalent degree.
- > 5-year experience as an operation manager, ideally with executive responsibility.
- a strong track record of managing a complex enterprise's human resources, finances and operations on a global scale.
- A proven capability for strategic thinking
- Demonstrated experience of ethical leadership.
- Excellent command of English and German
- Prior experience growing a company from the start is a strong plus

Qnami offers a stimulating, multicultural and friendly work environment. We are located in Basel, Switzerland, at the crossroad between Switzerland, Germany and France. Your position may include extensive traveling within Switzerland and abroad. You will be hold responsibilities and a have direct impact on the growth of the company. Your salary will be based on your experience.

We look forward to receiving your application (resume and motivation letter) at jobs@qnami.ch. Starting date: Flexible, from September 2019.